

Ira L. Bare, Editor and Publisher.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. One Year by Mail in advance $1.25 One Year by Carrier in advance $1.50

Entered at North Platte, Nebraska, Post office as Second Class Matter.

FRIDAY, FEB. 16, 1912.

Keep Away from Oregon.

The Portland Oregonian, advises all to steer clear of Oregon, and in speaking of the general conditions there, and of the people who have lately gone there expecting to get employment says: Large numbers of these people are now destitute, after having spent their saving in railroad fares and in vainly seeking work. Their suffering at present is so intense that the city council of Portland was forced to appropriate a large sum of money to put some of the actual starving people to work on park and street work at wages below the prevailing rate of laborers. Private charity has and is still being taxed to its utmost.

The fault for this lamentable condition of affairs lies with unscrupulous employers of labor and a certain type of real estate men. For years false advertisements about land and labor conditions in Oregon have been placed in the eastern papers.

These advertisements lured to Oregon homeseekers, mechanics and laborers, who on arrival here, quickly found that they had been duped.

Twenty-one Years Ago.

In a freight wreck at Brighton, Col., on the Colorado branch, engineer John Downs, of this city, had both legs cut off. Fireman Spragg was horribly mangled and Conductor Douglas was more or less injured. The wreck occurred at five o'clock in the morning during a dense fog, and a double-headed freight running thirty miles an hour, crashed into the rear of a freight standing on the main line. George Hockenburg, engineer on the head-engine jumped and escaped injury.

Rev. Waldron arrived from Sidney to succeed Rev. Conway as priest in charge of the local Catholic parish.

The official census gave Lincoln county a population of 10,441, a gain of 6,000 in ten years.

Five tons of flour, five tons of corn meal, a ton of bacon and beans and rice galore were received for the needy homesteaders.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Roth.

Mrs. John Burke, of Cottonwood, was allowed $5,612 on an Indian depredation claim. The depredations were committed by the Sioux Indians in 1869, when fifty head of mules and some cattle were stolen.

In a bad storm George Long lost four head of cattle, Hall & Evans nine head, Wm. Dikeman sixteen, Wm. Siebold two, D. B. McNeil two and others from one to three head.

The residents of Medicine precinct were making an effort to secure a beet sugar factory.

Clint Patterson, then a member of the city council, introduced a resolution that the mayor, councilmen and treasurer serve without pay, the clerk's salary be reduced to $100 per year, and that the services of marshal, night police and street commissioner be dispensed with; but the other councilmen didn't believe in cutting off their salaries and the resolution was tabled.

Patterson said the city was awfully in debt and he believed in cutting expenses.

J. N. Calhoun sold his big bunch of cattle to John Britt for $16 per head, rented the ranch to Albert Cooledge and later left for Indiana.

Councilman Klein resigned in order to become a candidate for city clerk.

Lecture by Socialist.

Prof. W. F. Ries lectured to an appreciative audience in the Lloyd opera house Tuesday night. He had a chart illustrating the many ways we are gouged by the banks, railroads, telegraph lines etc. Under the caption "Civilization in Practice" he said: "The larger and more costly they build their churches the bigger and more expensive and deadlier they build their battleships. The larger and more elaborate they make the bibles to save souls the larger and more deadly they make guns to destroy human life."

"Consistency is a jewel not to be found among civilized nations where they build up with one hand, and slaughter and destroy with the other. This farce and mockery has been going on for thousands of years in the name of God and Justice."

"Let the nation own the trusts. Socialism means the golden rule against the rule of gold. The laws govern the poor and the rich govern the law. Do you know that seventy-two per cent of the American people do not own a home?"

The tie between the laborer and the master is still one of force, although it is not now one of visible chains. Dogs have fleas, society capitalists. The fleas are not good for the dog nor the capitalists for society, both live on their hosts. Beautiful little children may be seen in all our large cities digging deep into the garbage barrels seeking for food and fuel, while within a few feet of them may be seen ugly pups with blankets and gold collars taken out to walk by silly women. This is the system you uphold, Mr. Roosevelt.

Abraham Lincoln, said: "Our whole species falls into three great classes—useful labor, useless labor and idleness. Of these the first only is meritorious, and to it all the product of labor rightfully belongs. But the two latter, while they exist, are heavy pensioners upon the first, robbing it of a large proportion of its just rights."

WANTED!

HORSES, MARES AND MULES.

I will be at the Star Livery Barn, North Platte, Saturday, Feb'y 24th

Bring in your good sound fat horses, I buy for the eastern and southern markets and pay best prices. Don't bring blemished or small horses.

Mules wanted up to eight years old.

PERCY GOSLETT.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

F. C. Pielsticker was a business caller in Sutherland Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Brady, are visiting local people this week.

Photographer G. W. Anderson spent several days this week in Oshkosh on business.

Roy Marovich of Sutherland, came down Wednesday to attend the K. C. reception.

Miss Mary Mavorish left the first of week for Grand Island to spend several weeks.

Mrs. Sara Holden has returned from Paxton after visiting her sister for a week past.

Miss Cleo Chappell returned Tuesday from a short visit in the eastern part of the county.

J. E. Sebastian went to Big Springs Wednesday to transact business for several days.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adolph Beyerle was held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Williams and the church choir sang several beautiful hymns. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with sympathetic friends of the deceased and the bereaved family, who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The casket was piled high with beautiful sheafs of flowers and set pieces sent by loving friends. Pall-bearers were Messrs. George Austin, Charles Ell, John Beyer, John Straborn, William Welsh and J. T. Stuart. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery, where interment was made.

in car lots as needed for the year 1912. Also one car 3x14 20x24 foot for stringers. Bids to be filed by noon March 15, 1912.

County Clerk is hereby instructed to advertise eight weeks beginning Feb. 15, 1912, for bids for care of county poor farm for one year, according to specifications on file in clerk's office. Bids to be filed by noon April 15th, 1912.

County Clerk is hereby instructed to advertise for bids for grading of new roads with elevated grade and the re-grading of old county roads for the year 1912, a total of 40,000 cubic yards, more or less. Bids to be filed by noon of March 15th, 1912.

Board reconsidered its action of yesterday in regard to claim of Henry Fulk, attorney for Griffen Fisher, as to damages on road No 334 and allows his claim for 75.00 on general fund.

Claim of S E Anderson, damages on road No 334, claim allowed on general fund for 70.00

Claim of W A Weisner for 50.00 damages on road 334, disallowed.

Geo Hoover is hereby appointed Supt for South Platte river bridge at Sutherland.

The following claims were allowed on the general fund:

A W Hoatson, services State vs Minnie Roberts, 10.00

Guy D Holm, use of cement roller and material, 16.00

Klopp & Bartlett Co., supplies, 11.55

A P Kelly, balance on claim for printing, 95.00

North Platte Cemetery Association, burial for county paupers for 1909, 1910, 1911, 60.00

Wilcox Dept Store, mds for county poor, 42.50

A B Yates, special deputy sheriff, arrest of Geo Elm, 8.00

Board adjourns to Feb 10, 1912

Feb. 10, 1912